CURATORIAL TEXT

by Brenda Ortiz Clarke

Translated from spanish

Are you really just dreaming?
Dreams transport us to the depths of our subconscious and sometimes, they confront us with what we might want to suppress from our memory.
Flying between buildings, or different times and dimensions.
Converging with people from our ‘here’ that some time ago were shared with you,
but are no longer amongst us.

A remembrance, a memory, a premonition... call it a déjà vú
Delivering messages to those who are worried.
Meeting with those who called for it, energetically.

“My brain is only a receiver, in the Universe there is a core from which we obtain knowledge, strength and inspiration” said Tesla who had maintained a sacred triangle between energy, frequency and vibration. Always 3-6-9.

Maybe you are in an infinite dream; a simulation of a reality; distracted by everything you consume on a daily basis and by what is happening around you, that you consider important to you and your beloved. You are becoming a more self-centered being.

Wake up! Activate your mind to transcend the time and space limitations. You have only witnessed one drop in an entire ocean.
